

The Daily News.
NEWPORT.
BY CHANSTON & NORMAN,
127 THAMES STREET.
TUESDAY MORNING, AUG. 31, 1882.
ELECTION MONDAY, NOV. 5.
WHIG NATIONAL NOMINATIONS.
FOR PRESIDENT,
WINFIELD SCOTT,
OF NEW JERSEY.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM A. GRAHAM,
OF NORTH CAROLINA.
Electors.
ELISHA HARRIS, of Coventry.
ISAAC P. HAZARD, of Newport.
AMOS D. SMITH, of Providence.
CHARLES ALLEN, of North Kingstown.

Washington, Aug. 26, 1882.
Messrs. Editors:—

The New York Herald of Tuesday informs the people of the United States that the River and Harbor bill in all probability would not pass at this session of Congress, for the Senate were determined to kill it by loading it with amendments and by talking it to death. On Tuesday the bill was engrossed with the addition of $530,000 for the improvement of other harbors and rivers. In their paper yesterday morning the readers of the Herald were informed by their intelligent correspondent that the bill had not been taken to the Senate, but had been engrossed, and would pass the Senate, but that the amendments would be neglected in the House, and the bill finally passed in its originality. Now I will venture to predict that the correspondent will not be found any nearer correct in his prediction of Wednesday morning than of Tuesday morning, and that the River and Harbor bill will pass the House just as it has passed the Senate.

The bill in the Senate was engrossed by a majority of 14 and passed by a majority of 12. This bill is a Whig measure supported in the Senate by every Whig but one—though supported by leading democrats. The passage of this act will be the triumph of the Whigs of internal improvement, and the utter abandonment of the plank on that subject in the platform of the Democrats at Baltimore.

Charles Sumner, of Boston made a powerful speech against the injustice of the fugitive slave law. He was listened to with the greatest attention. His speech was a specimen of burning eloquence uniting profound logic with the highest flights of the imagination.

The clerks have had an increase of compensation given them in the civil and diplomatic bill. $1200 clerks and under have received an addition of 20 per cent and those under about 15, 10 and 5 per cent.

The Senate is working hard. They have sit over 8 hours a day the present week.

WE HAD THE FOLLOWING brightly and pleasant letter in the Spirit of the Times; it is from the pen of our esteemed friend, Mrs. H. Marion Stephens:—
RIPPLES FROM NEWPORT.
Newport, R. I., Aug. 2, 1882.
Dear P.—Can you comprehend the humbug—luxury I mean—of a season at Newport, where you are so lost amid the intricacies of fashionable society, so huddled about and so bewildered, that you are ready to bat old Time over the head for cheating you into the living of a season for somebody else—so sure you are it is not yourself that's enduring so much punishment for so little pleasure? That was my last year's experience. This season finds me located in a sweet cozy little home, with a dear friend, whose joys and sorrows have been my own for many years, with the hearts that I love about me, and that not least, with a most lovable and affectionate mother to fondle me. Should I not be happy? Be assured there is but one drawback, and that the memory of a lonely one in Boston, who is apt to miss me when all else forget.

Well, here I am, in Newport, and the spray that rises from the waves to float off with the moonbeams, shall not be more light or evanescent than my regrets while pleasure rules the hour. But where to begin? It has been a week for distinct sensations, separate impulses, and lifelong remembrances. Dressing, riding, dancing, and—shall I confess it—fishing; but then, one does feel so particularized in the midst of so much gaiety, and if men will indulge in such trifles, and if they should occasionally be caught napping, waking only to find their intoxication spirit a married woman, why—as a very agreeable writer in Harper's last observes, "all baggage at the risk of its owner," then the consequences!

To-morrow (which will come, despite the adage) will be only a fresh daguerrotype of the to-day, which has just suggested under the star coverlid of to-night; and the next day, and the next night, and many more days and nights yet to come, will all bear the same stamp of festivity and mirth. The beach is the centre of attraction during the morning. The long, bright sweep of water, glittering with its myriad eyes, and singing its perpetual song, is in itself an attraction, but when the smooth sand is alive with grotesque forms, for miles and miles away, there is food for mirth as well as interest. The dresses are so nearly alike that the men look like women, and the women like corned Uddies, bobbing up, and down with the rise and fall of the waves. My first experience in sea bathing was rather a rough one, but perfectly satisfactory. I have always expressed an almost Byronic love for the water. "The sea, the sea, the open sea," has been the theme of a thousand eulogies, but I confess that, much as I love the crash and roar of the billows, the wild fury of the wave, and all that sort of thing, my poetic impulses are cowardly enough to suggest that their grandeur is quite as pleasing to look upon from the shore, with a firm foothold upon the ground, as from the more romantic eminence gained by rocking upon the breakers. With all my cowardly propensities rising up in judgment against me, I ventured into one of the dingy-looking bathing dresses, and suffered myself to be led out upon the beach until the waves were piled up around me full three inches. Trying hard to make believe I liked it first rate, and wasn't a bit frightened, and didn't believe in the sea serpent any more, I ventured to suggest the propriety of returning, but it was no go, I was pinioned on each side by a pair of rough sea devils. The more I struggled the more they held me tight. I thought of the expediency of slipping out of my bathing dress and cutting for the dressing car, but unfortunately, I had so tied and buttoned and pinned myself up, in a vain attempt to make it fit, that there was no getting in or out of it without more effort than I was capable of making just then. My perplexities were soon brought to a close, however, for before I had time to faint, M—, who was of the party, caught me in his arms and sprang through "three frills of the sea's shirt," as Willie very indignantly expresses it. I was drummed to death, and I knew it—a good New Correspondent, to all intents and purposes, yet, there were my companions, laughing so loud and heartily, that the fish, if there were any around, must have thought that drowning an inoffensive woman was one of the greatest luxuries which humans indulged in. I resigned myself to my fate, like a hero, as I am, but after remaining under water a reasonable length of time, and finding my faculties still unimpaired, I ventured to take a peep at their royal highnesses, the Mermaids, confidently expecting that I was somewhere in their vicinity. A great, broad, brilliant sheet of water first greeted me, then a pair of roguish blue-eyes, and then a mouth, which I was sure I had seen before while alive, and, to my surprise, there I was, swimming away as artlessly as any fish among them. "And since that morning!" Well—there has been a scrambling for the sea shore, you may believe—and such striking out into the ocean, to drift back again on the big breakers, and such diving down into the far off depth, and staying there until we are given over as lost, and such an unfashionably merry set as we are, is incredible—almost. The Atlantic and I are on the very best of terms. I can hear him now, tumbling about in his rock-bound bed—I know his suit, he's growling for me to come out and have a time with him! Not a bit of it, you old buffer! You ducked me this morning when I was flirting with you, and I'm going to define my position when we meet again! I didn't come to Newport to be handled roughly, I can tell you!

There are so many belles this season, that to select any one from the crowd would be unkind. The Tennants are here from Philadelphia, making quite a display with four cream-colored horses. Mac is here, but I have not seen him. Watson, a dashing looking piece of humanity, propels a pair of lovely sorrels, and W. Mead, with Ajax and Lady Emma, is not likely to be detached. The let teams I should prefer to let alone—they, as a general thing, being about the clumsiest, rudest, most patched up affairs imaginable. There are exceptions—Tennant's for instance! The ladies here are particularly pretty. We have a couple in our party—the one, Mrs. D. M., possessing one of those indescribable Southern faces, made up of melancholy and mischief, the other, Mrs. W. M., with a soft Madonna countenance, and its attendant golden hair, either of which ought to be the belle of Newport. If I had half of their beauty, with my good-as-anybody feeling, I could be, or take an oath to, drown myself at the close of the season, and do it, too. But I am rambling quite away from what I intended should be the material of my letter. There are the Spouting Rocks, and the Forty Steps, and the Glen—(oh! such a lovely place!)—and to-morrow we are going to Purgatory, the surroundings of which must form a ground-work for another letter, so good night, and pleasant dreams.

"NEW CORRESPONDENT."

A NEW FEATURE IN THE EXECUTION OF THE LAW.—A lot of liquor is advertised to be sold this morning in lots to suit purchasers, by a Deputy Sheriff, at 67 William street. This property, if it is property, has been taken on execution, and it sold, will be disposed of according to one law, and against another. We believe the city authorities will interfere to prevent the sale, should an effort be made to proceed with it.—N. B. Mercury, 28th.

IRISH LINEN WRAPPERS.—The linen manufacturers of the north of Ireland, who annually paid £60,000 or £70,000 a year to other countries for the ornamental wrappers for their fabrics, are now spending the greater portion of it at home, these wrappers being now executed by Belfast artists, taught at the Government School of Design recently established there.

FOR THE NEWS.
Stanzas.
There's sunlight on the grass,
The breeze is on the hill;
And through the starry forest-ways
The woodlark's echoes thrill.
How glorious is the summer
When nature softly smiles;
And leaves us from a busy world,
Its sorrows and its wiles.
I love the spreading foliage,
I love the budding flower,
I love the bird's sweet warbling,
I love the music of the shower.
At twilight's witching hour,
And well I love to sit me down
By Newport's shelving shore,
To gaze upon the changing sea,
And hear old Ocean roar.
My thoughts recall an early home
Where violet flowers grow,
And clustering round the ivied porch
The rose and jasmine blow.
But hark! the merry voices
That echoed through the hall,
And dim the light of loving eyes
That beamed within its walls.
Oh! there are charms in spirit-land
That nothing mortal feels,
Unmarked by him the balmy air
That o'er my senses steals;
But hush! rise to my lips
To offer at the shrine,
Of him who marks the dreamer's wants,
And makes those sleepings mine.

Newport, Aug. 23d, 1882.

A PROPHET.—The scene in the Police Court, yesterday, and the vague threats of prosecutions by the hundred which are to follow, reminded us of some remarks in an able document from the pen of the late HARRISON GRAY OTIS, published upwards of four years' since. We shall hereafter quote at length from this able production, but cannot refrain from copying a few sentences to-day. They emphatically mirror forth the present state of things in our Commonwealth, and show that the clear intellect of Mr. Otis, schooled amid the early storms which clouded our nation's independence, foresaw what would follow the headlong career of our "mis-called philanthropists. We ask our readers to peruse this prophetic warning, and to remember the sound advice of the venerable writer.

"I regret to perceive," says Mr. Otis, "that the leaders of this reform—yielding to the propensity of all reformers, except his who left an example that we should follow his steps—have adopted a system of coercion instead of persuasion, and attempt to compel the consciences of men by stretching the laws beyond the stringency of the old blue laws of our forefathers. This I lament, not merely because it is wrong in itself, but because it inevitably leads to a reaction that will leave matters more worse than they were before the temperance flag was unfurled. Laws which stigmatize lawful or innocent actions with the brand of crime, which multiply penalties, which require for their enforcement the base auxiliaries of spies and informers, which encourage confederates for the sake of procuring witnesses, which timber the tables of grand juries with indictments; which, in a word, are against the grain of great masses of the people—are proverbially cursed instead of blessings, and will not be endured by a free people."

"Meanwhile, a wrong sympathy is created with those who, having been bred to a vocation which the laws allowed, and embarked their capital in it, are threatened with deprivation of their means or subsistence, and denounced as bad members of society. All these are brooding over their discontent, and preparing some of them unconsciously, to combine with any party, in putting down those who deny the exercise of the most natural of rights—of appealing first by the choice of their own positions—and who, by forcing all to drink water, would prevent many from gaining their bread."—Boston Chronicle.

A FACT FOR GIDDISON, HALE & Co. Mrs. Stowe may write, and Giddison, Hale & Co. may preach until doomsday, but one little fact that has come to our knowledge, casts to the winds all they can say on the subject, on which they discourse so ignorantly. On Saturday last a gentleman of Alabama arrived in this city from Baltimore, having with him a negro, who had run away from his plantation sometime since, and whom he had recovered under the following singular circumstances. Standing one morning recently in front of the Hotel at which he was sojourning, at Baltimore, he was accosted by a half-starved and pitiable looking negro, who from his present recognized as a fugitive from his estate. Asking him what he wanted, he stated that he had been residing in Canada, and after having suffered innumerable hardships he had determined to retrace his steps and return to the home which he had so abruptly quitted, and had got so far when providentially he found his master, and now entreated him to take him back with him. The warm hearted planter at once consented, fed and clothed him, and the negro passed through this city with him as contented and happy a mortal as any on earth. He has learned a lesson he will never forget, and affords a practical commentary on the insanity of those who would interfere with a condition of things, the practical working of which is perfectly unknown to them.—Charleston Courier.

A RUNAWAY COUPLE—A MARRIAGE. ALMOST, NOT QUITE.—A young man attached to the medical profession has recently become enamoured of a young lady of this city, of very respectable family, and his suit was successful with her, but not so with her parents. So an elopement was arranged, but the vigilant father suspected what was going on, and took measures to frustrate it. He suspected on Wednesday that they proposed leaving by the accommodation train for Stonington, and arranged with Mr. Leonardson, the conductor, to prevent the accomplishment of their purpose. They, however, did not take the accommodation train, but took the steamboat train. They were seen by Mr. Leonardson on their arrival in Stonington, who took measures to prevent the marriage. The elopement was about to perform the ceremony, when an officer arrived, and they both fled. They were, however, afterwards taken into custody, and were in charge of the officer awaiting the arrival of the young lady's father. The would-be bride is said to be only about 16 years old. The would-be groom offered the clergyman $100 to proceed with the ceremony, but he declined.—Providence Post.

MORE TESTIMONY IN FAVOR OF THE OXYGENATED BITTERS. HOSPITAL, Feb. 8, 1882.

Dear Sir:—After suffering for two years or more, from Hypertension, attended with a cough, with I had despaired (after many trials of other remedies) of any remedy. By the use of the Oxygenated Bitters, I recovered, and I found almost immediate relief, and am now enjoying my usual health, which I attribute to the use of these Bitters. Respectfully, your obedient servant, RALPH SMITH.

20 Exchange St., 65 Allen St., NEWCASTLE, June 27, 1882.

Dear Sir:—After suffering for two years or more, from Hypertension, attended with a cough, with I had despaired (after many trials of other remedies) of any remedy. By the use of the Oxygenated Bitters, I recovered, and I found almost immediate relief, and am now enjoying my usual health, which I attribute to the use of these Bitters. Respectfully, your obedient servant, RALPH SMITH.

20 Exchange St., 65 Allen St., NEWCASTLE, June 27, 1882.

Dear Sir:—After suffering for two years or more, from Hypertension, attended with a cough, with I had despaired (after many trials of other remedies) of any remedy. By the use of the Oxygenated Bitters, I recovered, and I found almost immediate relief, and am now enjoying my usual health, which I attribute to the use of these Bitters. Respectfully, your obedient servant, RALPH SMITH.

20 Exchange St., 65 Allen St., NEWCASTLE, June 27, 1882.

Dear Sir:—After suffering for two years or more, from Hypertension, attended with a cough, with I had despaired (after many trials of other remedies) of any remedy. By the use of the Oxygenated Bitters, I recovered, and I found almost immediate relief, and am now enjoying my usual health, which I attribute to the use of these Bitters. Respectfully, your obedient servant, RALPH SMITH.

20 Exchange St., 65 Allen St., NEWCASTLE, June 27, 1882.

Dear Sir:—After suffering for two years or more, from Hypertension, attended with a cough, with I had despaired (after many trials of other remedies) of any remedy. By the use of the Oxygenated Bitters, I recovered, and I found almost immediate relief, and am now enjoying my usual health, which I attribute to the use of these Bitters. Respectfully, your obedient servant, RALPH SMITH.

20 Exchange St., 65 Allen St., NEWCASTLE, June 27, 1882.

Dear Sir:—After suffering for two years or more, from Hypertension, attended with a cough, with I had despaired (after many trials of other remedies) of any remedy. By the use of the Oxygenated Bitters, I recovered, and I found almost immediate relief, and am now enjoying my usual health, which I attribute to the use of these Bitters. Respectfully, your obedient servant, RALPH SMITH.

20 Exchange St., 65 Allen St., NEWCASTLE, June 27, 1882.

Dear Sir:—After suffering for two years or more, from Hypertension, attended with a cough, with I had despaired (after many trials of other remedies) of any remedy. By the use of the Oxygenated Bitters, I recovered, and I found almost immediate relief, and am now enjoying my usual health, which I attribute to the use of these Bitters. Respectfully, your obedient servant, RALPH SMITH.

20 Exchange St., 65 Allen St., NEWCASTLE, June 27, 1882.

Dear Sir:—After suffering for two years or more, from Hypertension, attended with a cough, with I had despaired (after many trials of other remedies) of any remedy. By the use of the Oxygenated Bitters, I recovered, and I found almost immediate relief, and am now enjoying my usual health, which I attribute to the use of these Bitters. Respectfully, your obedient servant, RALPH SMITH.

20 Exchange St., 65 Allen St., NEWCASTLE, June 27, 1882.

Dear Sir:—After suffering for two years or more, from Hypertension, attended with a cough, with I had despaired (after many trials of other remedies) of any remedy. By the use of the Oxygenated Bitters, I recovered, and I found almost immediate relief, and am now enjoying my usual health, which I attribute to the use of these Bitters. Respectfully, your obedient servant, RALPH SMITH.

20 Exchange St., 65 Allen St., NEWCASTLE, June 27, 1882.

UNDER SHIRTS AND DRAWERS. All assortment of Heavy Silk, Wool, and Cashmere Shirts and Drawers, at HEARD'S, 231 Touro St., opposite Atlantic House.

GENT'S TRAVELLING BAGGAGE. A new assortment of English Bathing Dresses, for gentlemen, such as are worn at English watering-places; for sale at D. W. Heard's, Touro St., opposite the Atlantic House.

HARPER'S Magazine for September contains: Memoirs of the Holy Land by Jacob Abbott, 11 Illustrations; Notes from the Hudson River; Hunting Adventures in the forest of Le Morvan; The Three Sisters; Reminiscence of a Boy Street Officer; Adventures in Japan; My Novel, by Bolwer; Bleak House; John Randolph of Roanoke, &c., &c.; for sale by W. H. FEER, 99 Thames Street.

ATLANTIC and Transatlantic Steamship and shore, by Captain Mackintosh, N. Y. author of Steam Warfare in the Pacific, for sale by W. H. FEER, 99 Thames Street.

BAZIN'S POND SOAP. This Soap combines the cleansing and softening qualities of the finest Oils, with the detergent properties of an impalpable powder of Pumice; it softens and polishes the hands, and removes all the impurities of the Skin; its soap-essence properties are not altered or affected by the use of Sea Water; sold by H. J. TAYLOR, No. 102 Thames St.

A Journal of Summer Time, in the Country, by the Rev. R. A. Whitcomb, being a new volume of Appleton's popular Library, 10 vols. The Oldford Family, or a Tale of the Old Dominion, by one of our daughters; the publication of this interesting work was commenced in the Literary Magazine, or Uncle Tom's Cabin, as it is, "Life Narrative, Scenes and Incidents in the real 'Life of the Lowly,'" by W. G. L. Smith, $1.50.

Up Country Letters; 50 cts. Hugh Paysonhurst; his Wanderings and ways of Thinking; $1.25; for sale by W. H. FEER, 99 Thames Street.

GOOD ROOMS and Board can be had at the G. T. HOUSE, 231 Touro St., opposite Atlantic House.

STONINGTON RAIL-ROAD. NEW ARRANGEMENT. TO COMMENCE MONDAY, AUGUST 30th, 1882. NEW INLAND DAY ROUTE BETWEEN PROVIDENCE AND NEW YORK.

VIA STONINGTON, N. LONDON AND N. HAVEN. Trains leave Providence at 7.15 A. M., or on the arrival of Boat from Newport.

Trains leave Stonington at 8.45 P. M., or on the arrival of Boat from New London.

By this arrangement passengers can leave New York by 6 A. M. Boat and arrive in New Haven by 12.50 P. M., or in New York by 4.20 P. M.

Returning, can leave New York by Express Train for New Haven, at 8 A. M., and arrive at Providence at 5.45 P. M., in time to connect with the Newport Boat that leaves Providence at 6 P. M.

Passengers can procure Tickets on board of the steamer Ferry, or at the Ticket office of this Company in Providence, and at the Ticket office of New York and New Haven Railroad in New York.

FARE. From Newport to New York, via Stonington, N. London, and N. Haven, $4.25. From Newport to N. London, via Stonington and N. London, 2.25.

From Providence to New York, via Stonington, New London and N. Haven, 4.00. From Providence to N. London, via Stonington and N. London, 1.75.

Passengers and baggage conveyed free of charge between the Boats and the Rail Road Station at Providence.

CRUSTY TYPES. Crusties, Galotypes, Daguerotypes, Chromotypes, Heliotypes, Autotypes, Cyanotypes, &c., &c.; for sale by W. H. FEER, 99 Thames Street.

TO LET FURNISHED. A pleasantly situated house, South-East of the Ocean House, corner of Clay and Dixon Street, including Coach House, now occupied by Mr. Appleton, of Boston; apply at this office, or at the premises.

THE SUPERIOR FAST SAILING YACHT PATH FINDER. Capt. Mc Donnell.

Is in readiness at all hours of the day, for Fishing or sailing.

EXCURSIONS. N. B.—This Yacht has a large Cabin and good accommodations, such as Bunks, Cooking Utensils, &c., &c.

The Yacht may be found at Banister's Wharf, or orders may be left at the residence of Capt. Russell, opposite U. S. Hotel.

ALFRED JAEHL Daguerrotype, this gentleman visited Holmes' Gallery, yesterday and honored him with a sitting for a specimen Portrait, which is pronounced a masterpiece of art, all the talent and elite of Newport are daily flocking in large numbers to obtain these wonderful works of art and skill; all are becoming more and more convinced of the truth of the statement that the daguerrotype is a more perfect likeness of the subject than any other process.

GREENADINES. B. Veils, a very good article, for sale by F. LAWTON & BROS.

MOUSQUETAIRE COLLARS. THE new patterns of wrought Collars, for sale by F. LAWTON & BROS.

HENRY'S Celebrated Magnesia, A fresh lot of this just celebrated article, direct from the importing agents, for sale by R. R. HAZARD & CO., Apothecaries' Hall.

COX'S SPARKLING GELATINE. Manufactured at George Mills, Edinburgh.—Stronger than Frangula, at one third the price! Just received from the importer by R. R. HAZARD & CO., Apothecaries' Hall.

JOSEPH BURNETT'S Cod Liver Oil; and J. Kitchen's Flavoring Extracts, fresh from the manufacturer, by R. R. HAZARD & CO., Apothecaries' Hall.

A fresh supply of Spilling's Rosemary and Castor Oil, a most excellent article for improving, restoring, cleansing and embelishing the hair, in bottles at 25 & 50 cts. each, and by direct delivery at C. C. HAZARD'S, next North Post Office, Sole Agent for Newport.

BATHING DRESSES. Fair is the form that rises slow, From ocean's broad expanse, A Naiad of the stream is she, Some creature of romance.

Her graceful robe, whose colors bright, Might shame the rainbow's hue, She bought at Heard's, where bathing suits In style are choice and new.

FOR SALE. new Sail Boat, 18 feet long, copper fastened, 4 masts, 2 sails, and full complement, a Set of Oars, Anchor, Coppered Blocks, &c., engine of 25 H. P. M. BROWNELL & CO.

WANTED. IN a private family, a competent white man as a waiter. Apply with recommendations at the Harrison House.

H. T. MAILLARD & CO'S delicious collection of confectionery, consisting of Ice Cream, Chocolate Cream, Drops, Fudge, Nut Cream, Chocolate Almonds, Raspberry and Orange Flavors, Gum Arabic Drops, and Meringue Berries, this assortment received by R. R. HAZARD & CO., Apothecaries' Hall.

NEW BONNETS! JUST received and now opening, two cases of New Bonnets of superior quality. Some very large sizes for elderly ladies, all the latest styles, at 112 1/2 cts. each. R. R. HAZARD & CO., Apothecaries' Hall.

RUSHTON Clark & Co., Cylindrical Medicinal Cold Liver Oil, fresh from Russia, by R. R. HAZARD & CO., Apothecaries' Hall.

LADIES' DRIVING GAUNTLETS. That exquisite beauty, which gives grace and elegance to the hand, and which is so essential to the perfecting of the art of driving, is now on hand at R. R. HAZARD & CO., Apothecaries' Hall.

DAQUERROTYPE AND CRYSTAL TYPES. NO. 28 WASHINGTON ST., NEW YORK. CONTINUES to receive orders for the purchase of the new and improved types of the ordinary daguerrotype, &c., &c. He was awarded a prize medal at the World's Fair and medals at each successive fair of the Mechanics Institute, Boston, the past six years, for the superiority of his work.

NEW MILLINERY GOODS. JUST received and now opening, a large assortment of new and elegant Millinery Goods, such as hats, bonnets, &c., &c., at 112 1/2 cts. each. R. R. HAZARD & CO., Apothecaries' Hall.

FRESH Black Hamburg Grapes, received from Boston, daily at RIDER'S, 171 Thames St.

PERFUMERY AND SOAPS. CONSTANT additions are made to our already large stock of above articles which with Perfumery of the various kinds, Parfums, Cologne, Hair Dyes, Powders, Pomades, &c., we are selling at very low prices.

TO LET. The lower part of the pleasantly situated house No. 10 Markborough Street, next West of the Methodist Chapel, containing six rooms. It has a good well of water and wood house and garden attached; for terms apply on the premises to Mrs. Read, or OLIVER READ, 230 Thames Street.

EXTRA PEACHES. Peaches, Melons, Peas, Apples, Pines, and every variety of ripe and delicious fruit, received every morning at H. H. YOUNG'S, 510 Parade Corner.

DR. WEAVER'S MEDICINES—THEIR EFFECTS ON CANCER AND SALT RHEUM. Messrs. S. A. Weaver & Co.—Gentlemen: My daughter has been troubled with Cancer and Salt Rheum for the last year, and it increased day after day to such a degree that she was unable to do any work, and she was in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain.

DR. WEAVER'S MEDICINES—THEIR EFFECTS ON CANCER AND SALT RHEUM. Messrs. S. A. Weaver & Co.—Gentlemen: My daughter has been troubled with Cancer and Salt Rheum for the last year, and it increased day after day to such a degree that she was unable to do any work, and she was in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain.

DR. WEAVER'S MEDICINES—THEIR EFFECTS ON CANCER AND SALT RHEUM. Messrs. S. A. Weaver & Co.—Gentlemen: My daughter has been troubled with Cancer and Salt Rheum for the last year, and it increased day after day to such a degree that she was unable to do any work, and she was in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain.

DR. WEAVER'S MEDICINES—THEIR EFFECTS ON CANCER AND SALT RHEUM. Messrs. S. A. Weaver & Co.—Gentlemen: My daughter has been troubled with Cancer and Salt Rheum for the last year, and it increased day after day to such a degree that she was unable to do any work, and she was in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain.

DR. WEAVER'S MEDICINES—THEIR EFFECTS ON CANCER AND SALT RHEUM. Messrs. S. A. Weaver & Co.—Gentlemen: My daughter has been troubled with Cancer and Salt Rheum for the last year, and it increased day after day to such a degree that she was unable to do any work, and she was in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain.

DR. WEAVER'S MEDICINES—THEIR EFFECTS ON CANCER AND SALT RHEUM. Messrs. S. A. Weaver & Co.—Gentlemen: My daughter has been troubled with Cancer and Salt Rheum for the last year, and it increased day after day to such a degree that she was unable to do any work, and she was in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain.

DR. WEAVER'S MEDICINES—THEIR EFFECTS ON CANCER AND SALT RHEUM. Messrs. S. A. Weaver & Co.—Gentlemen: My daughter has been troubled with Cancer and Salt Rheum for the last year, and it increased day after day to such a degree that she was unable to do any work, and she was in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain.

DR. WEAVER'S MEDICINES—THEIR EFFECTS ON CANCER AND SALT RHEUM. Messrs. S. A. Weaver & Co.—Gentlemen: My daughter has been troubled with Cancer and Salt Rheum for the last year, and it increased day after day to such a degree that she was unable to do any work, and she was in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain.

DR. WEAVER'S MEDICINES—THEIR EFFECTS ON CANCER AND SALT RHEUM. Messrs. S. A. Weaver & Co.—Gentlemen: My daughter has been troubled with Cancer and Salt Rheum for the last year, and it increased day after day to such a degree that she was unable to do any work, and she was in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain.

DR. WEAVER'S MEDICINES—THEIR EFFECTS ON CANCER AND SALT RHEUM. Messrs. S. A. Weaver & Co.—Gentlemen: My daughter has been troubled with Cancer and Salt Rheum for the last year, and it increased day after day to such a degree that she was unable to do any work, and she was in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain.

DR. WEAVER'S MEDICINES—THEIR EFFECTS ON CANCER AND SALT RHEUM. Messrs. S. A. Weaver & Co.—Gentlemen: My daughter has been troubled with Cancer and Salt Rheum for the last year, and it increased day after day to such a degree that she was unable to do any work, and she was in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain.

DR. WEAVER'S MEDICINES—THEIR EFFECTS ON CANCER AND SALT RHEUM. Messrs. S. A. Weaver & Co.—Gentlemen: My daughter has been troubled with Cancer and Salt Rheum for the last year, and it increased day after day to such a degree that she was unable to do any work, and she was in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now in great pain. I have tried every remedy that I could find, but nothing has done her any good, but the salt rheum has increased to such a degree that she is now

